Yesterday we received three telemarketing calls from 9:35am to 9:42am. Three calls in 7 minutes!! Although this is not common it happens and my wife is sick so she sleeps late in the morning and takes frequent naps. This is very annoying and is not good for her health. If we turn the ringer off we miss important calls from the doctors and others. We try to be patient with these people, but the other day one even gave my wife the "rasberries" when she said we were not interested.

Please pass any "do not call list" in legislation. I'm sure that we are not the only ones who would benefit from this.

Thank you,
Mrs. and Mr. Thomas
